We Are Pilgrims: 'Pilgrim' is a beautiful word and one well worth reflecting on. To be a pilgrim literally means to put aside our daily routine and to set out on a different path. It means moving away from our comfort zone towards a new horizon of meaning. The notion of 'pilgrimage' nicely describes our human condition. We often find ourselves facing major questions and challenging situations that have no immediate answers. The tragic death of Garda Deirdre Finn in our town on Monday last reminds us of the fragility of life and how our pilgrim journey in this life can sometimes come to an abrupt end. We remember and pray for Deirdre and for her family that the Lord will console them in their grief as they try to come to terms with her sudden, untimely death.

Lord, I may not be free to put aside my daily routine and set out on a different path, but I can be free, to change the routine of mind and heart and follow more closely the path you walk.

I don't need to head off to some far off place, I just need to leave my comfort zone and open myself to new horizons.

I've been a pilgrim all my life and a pilgrim's way is still my lot until the day I am finally home with you.

So, walk with me, Lord, stay close by my side and help me press on, day by day, On this path of life, until my journey ends with you. Amen
